CITY COUNCIL GIVES TWO CONTRACTS ON SEWER

Officials Make Awards on Bids; Plan to Widen San Fernando Road

The Glendale City Council this morning awarded Charles and George K. Thompson the contract for the construction of sections Nos. 1 and 3 of the Glendale sewer system (the north and south sections), together with the by-pass or temporary south end connection, and awarded C. E. Green the contract for the construction of Section No. 2 (the middle section) of this forthcoming $1,600,000 intercepting sewer that is to connect with the Los Angeles outfall sewer. Both firms are Los Angeles contractors.

The award was made by unanimous vote, all the members of the council being present; and Mayor Spencer Robinson was authorized to execute, on behalf of the city, contracts with the successful bidders.

Resolution of Thanks

Following this action a resolution was adopted extending to the Sewer Advisory committee the appreciation and thanks of the council for their advice and help in arriving at a decision on the award of contracts.

The contracts call for completion of the work within 525 working days of the date upon which they become effective. In the opinion of Chester A. Smith of the firm of Burns, McDonnell & Smith, consulting engineers retained by the city of Glendale to supervise the work, the three sections of this sewer will be completed many months before the expiration of the contracts.

San Fernando Widening

The City Council this morning passed an ordinance of intention to widen San Fernando boulevard. An effort to pass the dance ordinance was blocked by Councilman S. A. Davis, after it had been removed from the table by a 3 to 2 vote. The recommendation of the City Planning commission that the Hyperion boulevard project be furthered received the endorsement of the council.

All protests were denied on the hearings on assessments for the improvement of Stanley avenue, Hiawatha drive and Dorothy drive. Hearings on the establishment of a commercial district on East Wilson avenue and industrial districts on East Wilson avenue and Pacific avenue at Burchett street, were set before the City Planning commission for November 10 and before the City Council for November 13.

Adopt Resolutions

Ordinances were offered setting aside commercial districts on Arden avenue from Columbus to Central avenues and from Columbus to Pacific avenues. A resolution was adopted accepting a diagram of Broadway, Wilson avenue and Harvey drive. A resolution was adopted accepting a diagram of Grover avenue from Fourth street to San Fernando road. A resolution was adopted modifying the assessment for the improvement of business district alleys, including a portion of the alley fronting on the west side of the Harvard high school property.

IMPRESSIONS OF TRIP ARE GIVEN

Mattison B. Jones, Speaking At Meeting, Says War God Rules France

The spirit of militarism is gradually being overcome by the desire for peace in France, Mattison B. Jones told members of the Exchange club today in an address delivered at the meeting held at the Masonic temple. The God of War is the god of all France, he said, but the country's statesmen are constantly striving to foster a spirit of peace throughout the nation. He described his visit to the Gallery of Battles and the tomb of Napoleon, and told of the former war lord of France.

One thing that impressed him in the eight countries he visited, Mr. Jones said, was the total absence of billboards. In all France, England, Italy, Switzerland, Belgium, Holland, Scotland and Wales he saw only one billboard, a small affair of less than twelve square feet, located on the shore of the English channel, he said.

Hundreds of lives are saved yearly through the elimination of all grade crossings in the countries visited, Mr. Jones said. He told of the architectural and landscape beauty of the various nations, and the plan of intense cultivation of every available foot of ground. There are fewer men and wounded veterans of the world war begging on the streets in the British Isles than there is in Los Angeles, he said.

The challenge issued by the Long Beach Exchange club for a series of indoor baseball games was accepted, and President R. E. Johnston named C. R. Hull as captain of the local team. Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson reported on plans for a dinner dance to be held at the Sunset Country club the middle of next month. W. C. Waring was appointed to select a tennis team to compete in the Community Service tournament.

President Johnston announced that the meeting of the club next week would be a business meeting and members were requested not to bring guests. The attendance prize, donated by Attorney H. W. Chase, was won by Ralph Pierce. Smith McMullin was awarded the prize offered by Dr. George Campbell for the best attendance record.

For fifty-two weeks of the year The Glendale Evening News has given the Exchange club columns of publicity on its meetings, its aims and its work in the community. The club always gets publicity in The Glendale Evening News whenever asked for, and I think that as an expression of our appreciation for this hearty cooperation on the part of The Glendale Evening News, the club should take a full page."

Dr. H. R. Harrower suggested that a rising vote be taken on the question and every member voiced his approval by standing.

The page will give the membership roster of the club, classifications, work accomplished in the community, purpose and aims of the organization, and photographs of the various officers. It will appear in the Development number of the News October 31.

Advices from Peking indicate that Feng Yuh Siang, whose coup wrested Peking from Wu Pei's control is preparing to attack Wu's forces at Langfang, twenty miles from Peking, while Sun Yuh is leading an expedition into Honan with the object of capturing Wu's headquarters at Loyang.

OLDTIME 'DIRT' FARMER PASSING

C. F. Stuart, Local Druggist, Returns From Trip East With That Report

The old-fashioned "dirt" farmers of Michigan and Nebraska are unable to adjust themselves to present day agricultural conditions, with the result that in the aggregate thousands of acres of America's most fertile farm lands are being allowed to remain unproductive, said C. F. Stuart, proprietor of the Glendale Pharmacy, at Glendale avenue and Broadway, on his return with Mrs. Stuart from a month's trip to Kalamazoo, Mich.

It was the first time Mr. Stuart had crossed the Rockies in forty-two years, and he said he rides an upper berth with as much dread as does Mayor Spencer Robinson an airplane.

Young Farmer Class

A new and younger class of farmers are springing up throughout Michigan and Nebraska, he said, bringing with them modern methods and machinery. The old settlers cannot grasp these methods and are letting their farms run down.

"Youngsters are getting wonderful results with grapes, and Michigan may become a rival of California in this industry. Wheat crops in Montana are good, but Iowa is hard hit by a poor corn yield, too much rain having produced a stunted crop," he concluded.

Mr. and Mrs. Stuart visited Mrs. Stuart's family in Kalamazoo. En route they stopped at Roseville, in Northern California, and visited their son, Leigh Stuart, and their daughter, Mrs. H. W. Bailey.

COOLIDGE IS CERTAIN OF FAVORABLE DECISION

Executive Believes He Has Met Every Issue Brought Up In Campaign

By GEO. R. HOLMES
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—President Coolidge predicted his own election today.

The campaign drawing to a close and the decision at the polls but a week away, Mr. Coolidge dropped some of the usual reserve that has characterized his utterances anent the presidential race and told callers at the White House that he fully expected to be there four more years.

Always before, the president has characterized the reports of the Republican managers as "encouraging." He has seldom talked about his own election publicly or to newspaper correspondents, but, in the usual press conference today, it was evident that he considered the race already over. He smilingly assured questioners that all his personal plans are being laid on the basis of his succeeding himself March 4 next.

Mr. Coolidge further considers, he told inquirers, that he has stated his position adequately on every outstanding question at issue in this campaign. He has made upward of four dozen speeches and has written innumerable letters and statements since the campaign got under way and these, he thinks, fully cover his attitude on public questions.

Ignores Allegations

In any event, inquirers of the presidential attitude on specific matters were referred today to these speeches and papers.

He made no direct references to the various "charges" of evasion brought against him by his opponents, John W. Davis, and Senator Robert M. La Follette—but he conveyed the impression these will be allowed to go unanswered so far as he personally is concerned.

So many of these "charges" are flying about in the closing days of the campaign, he told inquirers, that it would not be feasible or possible to answer specifically.

This is the second successive year that The Glendale Evening News has been awarded this contract.

In making his report, Mr. Stone stated that on checking over the figures of the bidders, he found those of The Glendale Evening News totaled $115.72 lower on all the city printing of the last year, while they were $29.38 lower than the other bidder on a group of sixty municipal proceedings.

In view of these facts, Mr. Stone said, he recommended that the City Council award the contract for city printing for the ensuing year to The Glendale Evening News, which it did by unanimous vote.

ADVANTAGES OF PROPOSED CLUB

Promoter of Glendale's New And Novel Institution Outlines Project

Almost unlimited recreation and pleasure at a comparatively nominal expense awaits members of the Iroquois Swimming and Dancing club, according to the plans of the organizers, whose membership campaign was started in Glendale last week.

B. F. Brennan of Glendale, and Fred E. Graf of Hollywood, who conceived the idea of combining swimming and dancing under one roof and thus founding in Glendale what is said will be the only institution of that kind in the West, are ready to back their enthusiasm for the project with some interesting comparisons.

"Those who join the Iroquois club now have to pay only $50 for the membership," Mr. Brennan explained. "If they joined a country club they would have to pay several hundred dollars for the membership, and usually a lot of heavy assessments on top of that. And with the exception of the golf links, our club will offer every pleasure and advantage a high class country club offers—more than some of them. Thus people who don't care for golf can secure all the other things that make country clubs so attractive, without paying out a great deal of money to provide links for a few to enjoy.

Special Advantages

"On top of that, the man and his wife whose means are limited, or who don't want to make the investment required in a regular country club, but who want everything such a club offers, including the golf, can join our organization for $50, paying it in installments of $10 a month if they desire, thereby securing the pleasures of a clubhouse, plunge and dance hall, and for golf can motor over to the public links in Griffith park and then back to our clubhouse for a swim and rub down, fully as easily as they could ride out to an expensive golf club to obtain exactly the same benefits.

"The matter of monthly assessments and dues for upkeep of the organization is also worked out so as to give the most fun possible for the least money. I don't think under present high prices for everything one buys, you can duplicate our proposition anywhere else. For a monthly payment of $3 dues from each member we will be able to furnish three dances a week, averaging thirteen dances a month, with first class orchestra, a perfect floor and a beautiful, well fitted ball room.

No Additional Charges

"Our members will be entitled to attend all of these dances if they wish, without one cent additional charge. That's at the rate of a little less than 25 cents per couple for each dance, provided a couple attends every dance. A less active couple attending only one or two dances per month will get big value for their money.

"And on top of the dancing privileges, the splendid big plunge, with its artificially warmed water, its modern apparatus, its showers, lockers and dressing rooms, will all be free to the use of members at no additional charge over the three dollars monthly dues. The plunge will be open every day in the month, and every evening. Members can send their children to take a swim during the afternoons, resting assured that the youngsters will be properly looked after.

"Opportunities will also be given to the young people of high school age to hold properly chaperoned dances in our hall, thus filling a need for clean, attractive amusement of this nature for maturing boys and girls. The children of members will be eligible to all the privileges of the organization.

Spanish Design

"Taking it all together, the swimming, the dancing, the clean surroundings, the fact that it is going to be a Glendale institution made up of your friends and neighbors with whom you will be on terms of splendid companionship right from the start, the plan gets more and more attractive as you look into it," Mr. Brennan concluded, "and the response we are obtaining in the way of applications for memberships shows that Glendale people are awakening to the opportunity."

Messrs. Brennan and Graf have opened offices at 423 Glendale Security building. Plans for their building have been approved by the Glendale city council and the Planning commission. A site has been secured on Arden avenue, between Columbus and Central avenue. The property is 150x233. It was purchased through O. M. Newby, realtor.

J. H. Randall, Glendale architect, prepared plans for the building, which will be of Spanish design, containing a swimming pool 50x110 and a dance floor 50x90.

PRODIGAL SONS AND DAUGHTERS

Editor's Note — This is the second of a series of articles written for The Glendale Evening News by Carlos S. Hardy, judge of the superior court of Los Angeles county. The articles will show that "crime never pays." Judge Hardy's position and his study of the cases before him qualifies him to present the articles in an interesting manner. The third is "The Wayward Woman."

2—DISOBEDIENCE OF CHILDREN BEGINNING OF CRIME

By CARLOS S. HARDY
Judge of the Superior Court, Los Angeles County

The disobedience of children is frequently the beginning of crime, and when disobedience is followed, as it often is, by the companionship of wayward boys and girls, the foundations are being laid for a criminal career.

Back in one of the eastern states were two boys who were the concern of their respective families. They were not bad boys in any way, except that they were continually disobeying their parents. After they were ten years old, they never obeyed anything said to them, unless it happened to meet with their own fancy. They ran the streets at night, and loitered upon the street corners in the day time. They were always members of the neighborhood mischief making gangs.

Beg Auto Rides

Finally, when they were 17 years of age, they started for California. They had no money to pay fare, but by begging rides of autoists, they managed to reach Los Angeles early last winter. They had never worked except at odd jobs for a few days at a time, and instead of seeking honest work upon their arrival in California, they spent their time loafing in the pool halls.

After a few days their finances were nearly exhausted, and they were beginning to go upon reduced rations. Then they made the acquaintance of one of the many species of crooks that make pool halls their clubs. This man was of mature years, and having never done honest work in his whole life, except while in state's prison, he was free with advice to our two young friends, telling them that the young man who goes hungry or works, is a fool. He recounted to them how he had lived well and had never worked, but he did not mention the fact that he had spent fifteen of his forty years of life inside prison walls.

Enter Upon Crime

It did not take long to convince the two boys that they had made a fine friend in their older companion. He purchased several meals for them and loaned them three or four dollars for spending money, and having thus proved his friendship and gained their confidence, he proposed that the boys join him on an automobile ride one night about ten days after they met him. After driving around the city for a few hours, he finally stopped before a palatial residence and alighted, asking one of the boys to remain in the automobile, while the other accompanied him to the house. He then proceeded to open the rear door with a key which he carried, and entered the building, leaving his youthful companion at the door, and instructed him to be on guard and call out if anyone approached.

The older man went inside the house, and soon a scream on the second floor was heard, and suddenly and quickly a shot rang out in the same quarter. The companion of the boys opened an upstairs window leading to a porch, and started down a pillar when several policemen who had heard the shot ran into the yard. One officer immediately took possession of the youth in the automobile, and another officer caught the boy waiting at the back door, while other officers engaged in a duel with the escaping man, who was seriously wounded, as was also a policeman.

Shot and Killed

After the fracas was all over, it was found that one of the occupants of the house had been shot and killed by the man friend of the boys, who was in the act of burglarizing the residence. Later, it was discovered that he was an old time burglar, and had served two long terms in prison for burglary. To the boys this old burglar certainly was an evil companion, and had they only remembered to "shun evil companions," as they had been told at Sunday school, it would have been much better for them. This evil and false friend was given a life term for his crimes of burglary and murder, escaping hanging by a narrow margin, while the boys were arested and sent to a prison school for juvenile criminals.

The case of these two boys is being constantly repeated by youths who imagine that they know more than their parents, and disobey them. It is always the disobedient boy or girl who gets into bad company, and who finally ends in trouble.

To refuse obedience to parents is to plant that, which if unchecked, will produce a crime harvest. To consort with evil companions is to sow seed that produces the bitter fruit called crime.

Veterans of Three Wars Will Hold G.O.P. Rally

Sensing the peril to their country, involved in the propaganda of the La Follette and Wheeler campaign, local veterans of three wars have organized a Coolidge-for-President club and will stage a rally at Harvard High auditorium, Thursday night, October 30. Veterans will assemble at Lexington and Brand at 7:30 from which point a parade headed by the Elks band will march down Brand to Harvard, thence to the the high school. Speeches will be made by our "grand old man," Dr. C. R. Norton, veteran of the Civil war; Chief John D. Fraser, veteran of the Spanish American war, and Col. James W. Everington, veteran of the World war. Former United States Senator Frank P. Flint will speak. The main address will be made by Hon. John L. McNab of San Francisco.

Special Correspondence

Space in this column is donated by the editor of The Glendale Evening News for use by the Glendale Coolidge club, 220 South Brand boulevard, to promote the election of Calvin Coolidge, president, and Charles G. Dawes, vice president, at the election November 4, 1924. This generous courtesy is deeply appreciated by the Glendale Coolidge club.

Campaign literature, buttons, Coolidge and Dawes portraits, windshield stickers, etc., may be obtained at Republican headquarters, 220 South Brand boulevard, where visitors are always welcome. Mrs. E. W. Hayward is in charge.

Preamble of the Constitution of the United States.

"We, the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty, to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America."

Some of the good women of Glendale were considerably wrought up a few days ago over a wide distribution from some unidentified source of several pages of an Ishmaelite magazine containing an article by some obscure writer attempting to belittle the mental capacity of President Coolidge. The president's radio address came about the same time and the Ishmaelites faded. It was about as silly a piece of campaign literature as ever made its appearance among intelligent people. The only interest that it should arouse is in its source and the expense of its distribution. It might easily be surmised that the magazine from which it was taken is financed from Russia, for it is an Ishmaelite, indeed. The late President Wilson was referred to in a recent number as having been a "tinhorn Caesar" and John W. Davis, Wm. Jennings Bryan, Wm. Gibbs McAdoo, et al. are all termed frauds and other pet names. It is a new product, the first number having appeared in January, 1924. It has been started for campaign purposes and there is little doubt that it will wink out soon after November 4.

At a meeting of the Thirty-fifth division, held in Kansas City, Missouri, on September 28, a resolution condemning Robert M. La Follette, candidate for president, was enthusiastically and unanimously adopted.

The Thirty-fifth division served in several engagements overseas, particularly in the Meuse-Argonne, where it distinguished itself while fighting on the left of California's troops in the Ninety-first division.

The resolution in part follows:

"And whereas, during those acrimonious and terrible times when our comrades were falling and bleeding on the battlefields, there appeared in this country those to whom adequate security was a mockery; those to whom the political freedom of the United States meant nothing; those who looked down with scorn on the great army and navy of the United States; those who excited traitors and those whose sympathies were actually with our enemies.

"And, whereas, there was at that time, among others, one in the United States Senate, who was considered the leader of this diabolical plot, and one whom the disloyal in the country looked to and this marplot, Robert M. La Follette, is now running for president of the United States and wants thereby to be commander of the army and navy and the head of our government.

"Now, therefore, be it resolved, that we, the veterans of the Thirty-fifth division, call by this resolution the people's attention to La Follette's war record and to the fact that only six years ago Robert La Follette of Wisconsin was considered an enemy to this country, a demagogue, a disorganizer when organization was paramount, a trickster and deceiver, who attempted to lead our foreign-born away from the flag, and that for political purposes; and that he was then considered unfit to be a United States Senator, and we furthermore desire to call their attention to the fact that if he should be elected President, he would, judging from his record, be a foe to our army and navy—his victory would be announcement to the world that the United States was wrong in the World war and we had reversed our position and that we had now joined hands and hearts with the Reds of Russia."

Mrs. Waddell to Give 'Precinct Tea' at Home

Mrs. Viola Waddell of 1229 East Wilson avenue, will open her home Friday afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock for a "precinct tea" for all women living in the eighteenth precinct. Mrs. W. E. Evans, Glendale club woman, who attended the Republican convention in Cleveland, will speak. All women in the precinct, regardless of political affiliations, are invited. The eighteenth precinct comprises the precinct between Lexington drive on the north, Sinclair to Wilson and Wilson to Broadway on the east, Broadway on the south and Belmont on the west.

COMMENT by GIL A. COWAN

One week from today you will vote, provided you are a citizen of the United States, over 21 years of age, and registered.

Most important of all you will vote for presidential electors who in turn will elect either Mr. Coolidge or Mr. Davis or Mr. LaFollette, although there is little probability of the latter two together scoring enough state victories to turn the tide against the present President.

In fact, if Republicans in such communities as Glendale vote their party ticket as they are expected to do, there is no question but what Mr. Coolidge will be elected.

Little remains now in the campaign but the shouting. But there will be an awful hue and cry if the election is thrown into congress. Only lack of interest on the part of voters will cause such a catastrophe.

So be prepared to vote. There are state and local issues which will make it worth your while to visit the polls, also.

Another campaign against the reckless motorist is in the offing. Automobile drivers should remember that the pedestrian has the inherent and constitutional right to the road. Also, there is such a thing as right-of-way and he who stealeth another man's path, particularly if that man is driving a truck, will find his car amounteth to little more than trash.

Traffic is bad enough, heaven knows, without people provoking jams. Only yesterday in Los Angeles a motorist stopped for the signals, as rightly he should, then saw a friend on the corner and engaged in a conversation long after he had been given the "go" sign. Needless to say there were more than a dozen cars stalled by his foolish act.

Other people will drive into traffic with empty gasoline tanks. Others abandon wrecks in the middle of the street to telephone their wife (or wives telephone their husbands) that the family bus is smashed. Much better they aid in clearing the path for others.

Also, there are motorists who insist on passing other cars on the wrong side of the road at school stops to assert their prerogative of laughing at the law. Mayhap a child be in their way and manslaughter charges will follow.

Reckless drivers not only come to grief, but they cause grief for others.

SKULLS BUT NO WEALTH IS FOUND

18 Human Head Bones Are Taken From Tomb In Antelope Valley

A total of eighteen skulls and other human remains have now been removed from the mystery tomb in the Antelope valley by George L. Murphy, garage proprietor at 537 East Colorado boulevard, who on September 1 startled Southern California by the announcement that he and two companions had hit upon a burial place believed to contain $1,000,000 or more in gold.

No gold yet has been located, Mr. Murphy stated. According to the legend handed down by Indians to an old trapper and passed along to Mr. Murphy, this was the spot where a caravan of fifty Spaniards was massacred in 1846 while en route from Mexico City to Los Angeles, bearing precious jewels and ingots of gold for the missions.

Airplane fare from Brussels to Cologne is $10 and thirty pounds of baggage is carried free, while the excess baggage rate is very small.

Southern California Due For Northwest Invasion

Tourists and home-seekers from the northwest will come into California this winter over the Great Northern lines, according to A. J. Dckinson of St. Paul, passenger traffic manager, who on Saturday visited J. M. Powers of the Atlas Steamship Co., 119 East Broadway. With Mr. Dickinson were Claude W. Meldrum, assistant general passenger agent of the Great Northern; John W. Phalon, general agent and Donald W. Day, traveling passenger agent of the line. They all agreed that favorable financial and economic conditions throughout the northwest should result in bringing thousands of people from that section to Southern California within the next three months.

'Turn to the Right' Is Dobinson Players' Next

"Turn to the Right," which during its run of years has earned a place with the greatest of American comedies, will be the offering of the Dobinson Players this week at the club playhouse. Written by Winchell Smith and John E. Hazzard, it has afforded happy moments to millions of theatregoers.

The story deals with a boy sent to prison on false charges, who, upon being released, determines to "Turn to the Right," fighting great odds to clear himself of the stain and to save his mother from heartbreak.

Georgia Woodthorpe, known as the "grand old lady of the stage," has been especially engaged for one of the principal roles. Miss Woodthorpe was cast for this role when the original cast was selected for its New York presentation. William Harvey Stephens will be featured as Joe Bascom, the wronged boy. Mr. Stephens played with Walter Hampden in New York for two years.

Ancient Fish Traps Of Coachella Valley To Be Protected

COACHELLA, Oct. 28.—A movement to protect the ancient fish traps and hieroglyphics of the Coachella valley is under way. An appeal has been made to Dr. Hubert Work, secretary of the interior, to establish a national monument in the vicinity of the Salton sea in order to protect these visible evidences of a prehistoric age. All of the Coachella and Imperial valleys at one time were a part of the gulf of California and the sea level is plainly visible to the motorist along the highway to Niland.

The program was given under the auspices of the Music department of the club, of which Mrs. Roberta T. Young is curator. Club members and friends occupied over half the auditorium and heartily applauded the program. Elaborate costuming added much to the work of the dancers. All were applauded for their artistic work and Miss Webb was encored many times after her solo dances. Mrs. Vivian Webb was accompanist.

J. C. McReynolds was elected president and general manager of the Royalties Investment Co., 420 East Broadway, to succeed H. J. Eggers, at the annual official meeting Monday night. C. E. QUAKES MAKE JAPS STILL NERVOUS

American Woman Osteopath In Orient Writes Glendale Friend of Experiences

Residents of the earthquake area in Japan are still suffering nervous and physical shock, according to Dr. Peryl B. Magill, osteopath, of Tokio, in a letter to her friend Dr. Caroline Paine, of 515 North Kenwood street. Dr. Magill writes:

"People here are well educated in osteopathy, and appreciative. Type of cases differ from those at home. So many of the cases I have had were people still suffering from the effects of the earthquake shocks, and if I could write the experiences of my patients during that time it would make an interesting book.

Recent Earthquakes

"Speaking of earthquakes, we had two quite hard ones last week, also a typhoon and an eruption of the volcanoes just twelve miles from here. The volcano is very picturesque at sunset time, and since the eruption the glow on the top of the mountain has been extremely beautiful. Japan is lovely, everything is so green, and the thatched houses are very attractive.

"We have been on several trips into country places, where we have had to stay in Japanese hotels and live as they do. It seems like play to eat at their dainty little tables, sitting on the floor, and to sleep in their funny beds, and all the pillows are awfully hard. They usually furnish you with kimonos to wear and slippers, too, as one can't wear shoes inside their hotels and houses.

Urged to Remain

"People are urging me to stay in Tokio this winter. Poor people there will need an osteopath badly, and it seems like a Christian duty to stay. Tokio is an awful place now, and bitterly cold in the winter.

"I am going to visit the imperial university's medical department at Fukuoda and look up some interesting experiments they are making there in the treatment of locomotor ataxia. We have had as house guests this summer one of the three Japanese women physicians in Japan. She took treatment from me and became interested in osteopathy. She has invited me to visit their university and hospital. One of the tragic things to me is the fact that there is only one osteopath in Japan. Urge some one else to come to Kobe or Kyoto."

Community Chest Gives Salvation Army $2000

Salvation Army has been allowed $2000 in the 1924 budget of the Glendale Community chest for the support of the organization's campaign for family relief, the men's industrial home, the day nursery for babies and the Evangeline home. The army ultimately will spend all this money in Glendale, as it has promised to establish a corps here during 1925.

Work of the army throughout the Los Angeles district needs no introduction to the people of Glendale. The army had a record in the great war second to none among the welfare organizations. Other establishments of the army in the Los Angeles district are the Workingmen's hotel on Weller street, the Labor bureau, on Towne avenue and the Redondo Beach fresh air camp.

Victim of Liquor Raid Pleads Guilty In Court

Dean will appear before Judge Lowe at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon, to answer to other charges growing out of this raid. He is represented by James F. McBryde, attorney.

HIGHWAY LINK APPROVED BY CITY

Santa Monica Boulevard to Be Joined to Glendale Road by Bridge

City Planning Commission approved last night the project of the Santa Monica Boulevard association to connect that highway with Glendale boulevard, by an extension of Hyperion boulevard east to Sanborn Junction, Los Angeles, and west to the Gateway section of Glendale, by a new bridge over the Los Angeles river at that point, above the present Glendale boulevard bridge. The meeting was held at the City Hall, J. H. Randall presiding in the absence of T. W. Watson, chairman.

Glendale Chamber of Commerce had previously endorsed this project, but this is the first official action taken on it by the City Planning Commission. Two resolutions were adopted to further the movement for this major highway link, one definitely endorsing the project, the other asking the Los Angeles county board of supervisors to exert its efforts to confine the Los Angeles river at the point of the proposed bridge, so that the necessary steps may be taken to get the work under way.

Co-operation Assured

Secretary J. Barnes of the Santa Monica Boulevard association was present, and requested the commission to send a delegation to co-operate with the board of supervisors in their efforts to define the river channel at that

How This Bank Is Being a "Big Brother" To Glendale

MANY PEOPLE have the idea that a "live" town is one where everybody spends freely and saves nothing. Any town where that happened would be "dead" in less than a year.

There can be no growth in a community—no homes or schools, stores or factories—UNTIL SOMEBODY HAS SAVED FIRST.

This bank's service lies in bringing together these small savings and in using them in part as loans for community development. Its role is that of "Big Brother" to this community, using its strength and resources to boost and build up this locality.

You may look ahead and see yourself with a good job, a good home, or business or farm. But, unless the community is prosperous and progressive, the job will not last long; the business will be bankrupt, and the real estate will not be worth much per front foot.

MY HAPPIEST DAY—
Can be spoiled if I fill it with suspicion of my friends.
Never started out peevishly.

Begins with the spirit of contentment fixed in my own heart.

SIMPLIFYING GOVERNMENT

It may be contended that Daniel Webster, great statesman though he was, could know nothing about the problems and the needs of government in 1924, and yet what he said about simplifying our government is rather pertinent today.

"Every free government is necessarily complicated," he said, "because all such governments establish restraints, as well on the power of government itself as on that of individuals. If we will abolish the distinction of branches, and have but one branch; if we will abolish jury trials, and leave all to the judge; and if we place the executive power in the same hands, we may readily simplify government. We may easily bring it to the simplest of all possible forms—a pure despotism. But, a separation of departments, so far as practicable, and the preservation of clear lines of division among them, is the fundamental idea in the creation of all our constitutions; and doubtless, the continuance of regulated liberty depends on maintaining these boundaries."

The founders of our republic gave the protection of our civil rights into the keeping of the judicial branch of our government. The purpose of those who framed our constitution was to protect the individual in his rights against any agency of government, whether executive or legislative, for they knew from experience that a parliament or legislative body could and would oppress as well as a monarch or other executive.

Liberty says, "The American system of liberty is founded on the principle that there are certain rights of the individual of which he may not be deprived, even by the will of the majority. That principle is the most precious of our possessions as a free people, and the proposal to deprive the supreme court of its power to defend it is a proposal to destroy it."

COMPLIMENTS BOOSTING SPIRIT

The boosting propensities of the people of Southern California furnish the material for a good many humorists and jokesters throughout the country, not excepting those in the northern section of our own state. But, now comes a real compliment from north of the Tehachepi. A writer for the Fresno Bee (C. K.) attended the Potato day celebration in Stockton, and complimented the city upon the showing made, but he was much annoyed by a Stockton barber who was sarcastic and even profane in his derision of the celebration. C. K. says he has a supreme contempt for any man residing in any community, and making his livelihood there, who has nothing but sneers for the locality in which he earns his living.

"You can travel Los Angeles county from end to end," he says, "and you will not find one single man, woman or child utter one disparaging or slighting word concerning anything in any way related to the scenery, the climate, the business, the activities of that section. But, up here the lips that sneer and the tongues that deprecate represent a not inconsiderable proportion of the population.

"One reason for the advancement of the Southland is the unswerving loyalty of her population to her interests and to her good name at all times and under all conditions—a loyalty that hesitates not to snap its fingers at the Eternal's commandment against lying, if a falsehood will advantage that section."

POLITICAL BUNCOMBE

One of the encouraging signs of the times is that the old-fashioned type of political speech has about run its course and played out in this country. The American people like hokum but they prefer it in the movies rather than in politics. The candidate who slaps the voter on the back, calls him by his first name and asks after the wife and the baby, and who pays his audience extravagant and ridiculous compliments, a la Andy Gump, doesn't get by with it these days. The campaign orator who is fulsome in his praise of his candidate and his party and over-zealous in his denunciation of the other candidates and parties, to the neglect of the discussion of the real vital issues at stake and the tremendous national and world problems to be solved might as well save his time and his wind. The people today want to hear real facts and listen to intelligent discussion rather than flowery oratory and political buncombe.

An exchange designates a speech of this kind by a United States Senator as "Apple sauce." This paper says it is supporting this man's candidate and his party not because of him and his tactics but in spite of him. But it registers a revolt against this kind of a campaign speech.

It is a sign that people are becoming more intelligent when they demand that real issues be discussed and political buncombe be dispensed with.

REGULATING THE PEDESTRIAN

In the accidents caused by motor vehicles, which are growing in numbers with alarming rapidity, the driver is most often to blame, but the pedestrian is not entirely without fault. On the congested city street corner, where an officer or a signal of some kind controls the traffic, why should not the pedestrian as well as the automobile and the street car obey the signal? The motorist waits when the signal says stop, but the jaywalker, traveling in the same direction, goes right on, winding his way in and out of the traffic, endangering his own life and confusing drivers of cars, when, by waiting less than a minute, he could have crossed with the traffic without danger.

In New York city, traffic officials are determined to save the jaywalker in spite of himself. The sidewalk crowds on the congested streets will move according to police signals, with the street cars and motor vehicles or they will be subject to arrest for breaking the traffic rules.

In many cities the uncontrolled pedestrian is as much of a problem as the controlled traffic, and the time is coming when the man on foot everywhere will have to be subject to regulations as well as the one in the car. Regulation of pedestrians would serve very materially in solving the traffic problem in many places.

One trouble about getting married these days, you have to dig through so much make-up to find the girl.

We like the dot and dash system of public speaking; a dot for a full stop and a dash for the door.

Most "hard boiled guys" are only one minute eggs.

Home is a place where we wash up to dine out.

HIS HELPER

War Victims

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Recently, at Wembly, the splendors of the Empire Pageant were dimmed for many by the sight of a row of stretchers placed on the platform of honor in the stadium, supporting over thirty men broken in the empire's war. They were incurable patients from St. David's home, Ealing, and had been asked to see the pageant by the generosity of Sir William Furse.

The cripples and wrecks of humanity that remain with us are pitiful reminders of the stupidity of mankind in settling its international quarrels by war.

The war's front may be splendid enough with the beating of drums, the blare of trumpets and the march of troops. But after war, the spectacle of the maimed, the bruised and broken, leads to the conclusion that there is nothing more terrible than a defeat, except a victory.

It is difficult to see the good that has come out of the late war, with Germany bankrupt, France in a bad way and England struggling with her high taxes and unemployment. If the people had been consulted, instead of the few leaders, there would have been no war.

It is the people who pay and the spectacle at Wembly was a striking illustration of the terms of their payment.

Death, disease and poverty are widespread and remain to afflict the generations which follow the warriors.

In time the common sense of the human race will devise some other method of settling its disputes.

Most people want to go on and lead their lives reasonably and this ambition is interrupted by the ambition of the few rulers who are willing to sacrifice the multitude for their own advantage.

If we could always keep before us the picture of those who are broken and wounded by the wars there would never be another one.

Horoscope

Astrogolers read this as a very doubtful day, for, while Mars and Mercury are in benefic aspect, Jupiter, Saturn and Venus are strongly adverse.

The new moon of this date is read as presaging an evil influence that may cause much mortality among the people.

Discontent and privation probably will be more widespread than at any time since the war.

Workers should be especially careful to avoid accidents and to make the best of everything, for there is an ill omen that appears to presage industrial troubles.

Jupiter is in an aspect favorable for financiers and men of wealth who maintain large business interests, but there is to be great waste of public money.

Theft, crime and forgery are denoted with a strange apathy on the part of guardians of the peace.

Corruption among public officials may be marked at this time when there appears to be immunity from punishment and lack of interest in safeguarding the people.

Much rainfall and even floods may be expected in the next month in many parts of the country.

California and other western states that have suffered from drouth probably will have rather a wet winter.

News that will cause militarists to rejoice may be expected at this time, which will be discouraging to pacifists.

It will be remembered that warlike demonstrations were prophesied long before Defense Day was contemplated. Now international complications are sharply indicated.

Venus is in an aspect that denotes scandals in high places both here and abroad. The death of a king or a ruler is signified in this lunation.

Persons whose birth date it is should watch the health in the coming year. Men in their forty-second year may expect an event of supreme importance.

Children born on this day are likely to have many ups and downs in life. These subjects of Scorpio are usually clever, quick, alert and gifted, but inclined to blunder into bad luck.

Today's Poem

LINES
(Book II:3)

An equal mind, when storms overcloud,
Maintain, nor 'neath a brighter sky
Let pleasure make your heart too proud,
O Dellius, Dellius! sure to die,
Whether in gloom you spend each year,
Or through long holydays at ease
In grass nook your spirit cheer
With old Falerian vintages,
Where poplar pale and pine-tree high
Their hospitable shadows spread
Entwined, and panting waters try
To hurry down their zigzag bed.
Bring wine and scents, and roses' bloom,
Too brief, alas! to that sweet place,
While life, and fortune, and the loom
Of the Three Sisters yield you grace.
Soon must you leave the woods you buy,
Your villa, wash'd by Tiber's flow,
Leave — and your treasures heap'd so high,
Your reckless heir will level low.
Whether from Argos' founder born
In wealth you lived beneath the sun,
Or nursed in beggary and scorn,
You fall to Death, who pities none.
One way all travel; the dark urn
Shakes each man's lot, that soon or late
Will force him, hopeless to return,
On board the exile-ship of Fate.

—Horace Quintus Fiaccus.

E. D. Yard, contractor, is building a beautiful seven-room bungalow at Riverside drive and Columbus avenue for Mrs. Minnie Patterson, recently from Philadelphia.

Building permits totaling $50,000, were issued in Glendale for the month of October, 1914, is indeed a good record, when other cities are crying dull times.

This is the night of the big parade, when all loyal friends of temperance will show their colors.

There are more automobiles than telephones in this country.

Who's Who

In view of the fact that the state of North Carolina is usually Democratic by from 50,000 to 100,000 votes in every important election a victory for A. W. McLean of Lumberton, Democratic nominee for governor of that state, is practically assured.

McLean is a prominent banker, farmer and lawyer. He served as assistant secretary of the treasury under Woodrow Wilson and also served some time as a director of the war finance corporation under appointment by Wilson.

He is a native of North Carolina. He was born in Robeson county, April 20, 1870. He is a graduate of the University of North Carolina and following his graduation opened law offices in Lumberton. His first political experience was as attorney for Robeson county. Six years after beginning his law practice he became president of the Lumberton bank. He has been active in Democratic political circles since 1892. He served on various national committees and was chairman of the national campaign committee in 1912 and 1916.

Smiles

ASKING TOO MUCH

Bert met his old friend Bill the Burglar and the two got chatting about things in general.

"I hear you've left your wife," remarked Bert presently. "Why did you do that?"

"Because she was always wantin' me to do somethin'," snarled the burglar moodily.

"What do you mean?" asked his friend.

"No matter how busy or tired I was, she was always naggin' me to do somethin' for her. At last, one night, it was too much."

"How was that?" said the other, interested.

"Well, I came in about 3 o'clock in the morning," explained Bill, "all worn out from doing too much work. I had opened two strong boxes and finished up by forcing a couple of safes, to say nothing of a vault I cracked earlier in the evening. An' then, when I got in, what do you suppose that woman wanted me to do?"

"What?"

"As I stand here, it's true!" growled Bill the Burglar. "She wanted me to open a box of sardines for her."

Making Presidents

By H. Irving King

IN 1904

McKinley, six months, almost to a day, from his second inauguration, was shot by an anarchist while attending the Pan-American exposition at Buffalo, New York, and did not long survive his wound. He was the fifth president to die in office and the third to fall by the hand of an assassin. Roosevelt, of course, acceded to the presidency. Of the four vice presidents who had, before Roosevelt, come into the presidential office through the death of the incumbent—John Tyler, Millard Fillmore, Andrew Johnson and Chester A. Arthur—no one of them had, after finishing out the unexpired term of his predecessor, become the nominee of his party to succeed himself. Yet when the Republican convention met in Chicago in June of 1904, it was a foregone conclusion that Roosevelt would be its nominee. He was nominated by acclamation and Senator Charles W. Fairbanks of Indiana was nominated for vice president.

The Democratic convention, meeting in St. Louis in July, nominated Alton B. Parker, an eminent jurist, then chief justice of the New York court of appeals, for president. Henry G. Davis of West Virginia, former United States senator and a man of large business interests who had risen by force of sheer ability and hard work, was nominated for vice president. The Democratic platform being silent on the money question, Judge Parker sent a telegram for the information of the delegates, saying that he considered the gold standard as "irrevocably fixed" and wished no one to vote for him under a misapprehension as to how he stood on that question. Eugene V. Debs, the nominee of the social Democrats in the previous campaign, was nominated by the socialists for president with Benjamin Hanford of New York as his running mate.

The prohibitionists nominated Silas C. Swallow of Pennsylvania and George W. Carroll of Texas; while the people's party put up Thomas E. Watson of Georgia and Thomas H. Tibbles of Nebraska for first and second places. Watson had been the populist candidate for vice president in 1896 when the people's party endorsed Bryan but refused to endorse Sewall. The socialist-labor party nominated Charles H. Corrigan of New York and William W. Cox of Illinois. The election resulted as follows: Popular vote, Roosevelt 7,623,908, Parker 5,077,911, Debs 402,283, Swallow 253,840, Watson 117,183, Corrigan 31,249. Of the electoral vote Roosevelt had 336 and Parker 140.

greater allegiance to country, to home, to family, and for prosperity, as against the foreign propaganda of revolution and discontent fed by the doctrines of Russia into willing ears in the motley army of voters who vote for La Follette.

Call Danger Real

"The danger is as real as that which awakened some of you at night on a battlefield. Although these men have armed themselves with words only, as yet, they will, if they can persuade enough of the thoughtless to vote with them, they would soon be arrayed in the total armed force of the United States, routed upon a program of dictatorship, with, if they can achieve it, La Follette, storm center for the red forces, as commander in chief of the American army and navy, occupant of the office of the president of the United States, made sacred by the traditions of Washington, Lincoln and Roosevelt.

"In the name of this great defense of our government, we invite you to unite with the Glendale Veterans' Coolidge club to get out the vote of all those who stood with you and with us, in the days when this government of ours demanded the utmost we could give.

Everybody Invited

"We invite you to join in organizing the greatest rally ever held in Glendale to demonstrate the solidity of the Americans of Glendale.

"The rally will be held Thursday night, October 30. We will assemble at the corner of Lexington avenue and Brand boulevard at 7:30 o'clock, and the parade will be marked by a brass band and flare torches, proceeding to the Harvard High school, where, about 8 o'clock, addresses will be made.

"For disabled veterans of the wars, automobiles will be provided to take them in the parade to and from the meeting.

City Needs New Water System Diederich Says

Peter Diederich, superintendent of plant and production for the city of Glendale, back from attending the fifth annual convention of the American Water Work association, in San Francisco, said today that he now is convinced that Glendale is in need of a better municipal water system.

Mr. Diederich reported that Paul Bailey, deputy chief of the department in engineering investigation, state department, in his talk on "Water Resources of California," said 75 per cent of the rainfall of California runs to the ocean and is lost to public use. "Glendale ultimately must either expand the present municipal water system or cease to grow," Mr. Diederich said.

Angelus Building & Loan Association

Under State Supervision

EXECUTIVE OFFICES—550 SOUTH GRAND AVENUE
Pacific Mutual Bldg., Los Angeles, Calif.

The Angelus Building and Loan Association is designed especially to encourage thrift by providing a systematic, practical and economical plan of saving; to invest judiciously its funds in first mortgages on homes; to furnish a profitable, stable and quickly convertible investment.

In California alone 63,825 men and women have placed their savings in building and loan associations, involving assets of over sixty-four million dollars. In the United States there are 6,864,144 investors, while total assets exceed Three Billion Five Hundred Million.

Your Money Secure

The Angelus Building and Loan Association is operated under the laws of the State of California and under the direct supervision, inspection and control of the State Building and Loan Commissioner. All funds placed with the Association are secured by many times their value in first mortgages on improved real estate, which loans are payable in monthly installments, thus enhancing the value of security each month as payments are made.

THE ANGELUS BUILDING and LOAN ASSOCIATION OFFERS TO ITS MEMBERS THE FOLLOWING FORMS OF ACCOUNTS AND INVESTMENT CERTIFICATES:

5% THRIFT PASS BOOK ACTIVE ACCOUNT. This account may be opened with one dollar or more, upon which five per cent will be credited from the day received to the day withdrawn. Payments and withdrawals may be made at any time.

6% PROSPERITY PASS BOOK ACCOUNT. This account may be opened with one hundred dollars, or multiples thereof for six months or longer, upon which six per cent will be credited and compounded semi-annually. Should withdrawal be made before the expiration of six months, a credit of five per cent is made from date received.

7% GUARANTEED COUPON CERTIFICATE. These certificates bear seven per cent and are issued in multiples of one hundred dollars with ten semi-annual coupons attached. They are exempt from city, county and state taxes and are issued for a period of five years, but are redeemable after one year, at the option of the holder, at par and accrued interest.

7% INDEPENDENCE PREPAID CERTIFICATES. These certificates are issued for a period of ten years, in sums of one hundred dollars, or multiples thereof, and return to the purchaser double the amount paid at expiration of ten years from date of purchase. These certificates are popular with those who desire to create a given fund at the end of a stated period, for some specific purpose. Credits are made on these certificates at the rate of seven per cent compounded quarterly. The association will loan upon these certificates up to ninety per cent of their book value. To illustrate: The book value of a one hundred dollar certificate the seventh year is one hundred and fifty dollars. The loan value would therefore be one hundred and thirty-five dollars.

7% MEMBERSHIP SHARES. These shares may be purchased in any number upon payment of 50c per share per month. Each share matures at the end of 132 months for one hundred dollars. The total amount paid is therefore $66.00 per share, while the total amount earned is $34.00 per share. This is a popular form of investment with those who wish to put aside a definite sum each month.

CRITIC TELLS OF LA FOLLETTE AIM

Richard J. McCarty Answers Those Who Defend Policy Of Independents

Editor The Evening News:—The supporters of the doctrines announced in the La Follette platform are having a difficult time in attempting to reconcile his peculiar wisdom in government reform, and his conduct and attitude in the United States senate and as evidenced in his St. Paul address during the late war, with the just appreciation an American citizen should have for his government, and the duty and loyalty he owes his country in times of stress such as came upon us in 1917.

Since the writer's article appeared in The Evening News some days ago he has been the recipient of information which does not agree with his views at all. It was quite to be expected that there would be attempts on the part of those who blindly follow the Wisconsin senator's radical teachings, to justify his reactionary desire to subordinate the Supreme Court of the United States to the will of Congress, and to justify his disloyalty to the nation during the trying period of the war.

One Statement

One of these La Follette adherents makes, what in effect is a general but totally unsupported statement, that the Constitution and the Federal Courts have become a refuge for public grafters and those seeking special privileges at the hands of the government. Using the common La Follette logic, he blames the Republican party or the administration for the sins of the occasional individual who might find his way to high office and fail in the honest discharge of his duty as a public servant.

The other adherent of La Folletteism attempts to justify the conduct and attitude of La Follette during the world war upon the bare assumption, quite unsupported by history, that his attitude and acts were not materially different from other American citizens during other wars in which the United States were engaged, citing the war with England in 1812 and the war with Mexico.

No Thought of Menace

With such convictions apparently embedded deeply in the mind of the average La Follette adherent, and with no apparent desire to seek the truth, he is ready to adopt the La Follette platform with all its socialistic aims and purposes with no thought of the menace it offers to our established form of government.

To what extent tinkering with the Constitution would follow under the La Follette creed no one can foretell, and apparently the average La Follette supporter is unmindful thereof. With Congressmen elected under our direct primary laws, and senators of the inferior type with which we have become familiar during the last congress, we cannot safely hope for any higher type of brains in our future congressional representatives than that which brought the standard of the sixty-eighth congress below any in the history of the American nation. Thus the peril to our Constitutional form of government is apparent if the full influence of La Folletteism is to be felt.

General Dawes Quoted

In his acceptance speech at Evanston, Ill., General Dawes named radicalism as the one great issue in the present campaign. In his address at Baltimore on a more recent date, President Coolidge dissected the very heart of this great radical danger to the welfare of our nation. He referred to it as a long-threatened blow at our courts, a deliberate and determined effort to break down the guarantees of our fundamental laws by limiting the jurisdiction of the courts. It has for its purpose the confiscation of property and the ultimate destruction of liberty. At the present time the chief obstacle, besides the people, to this effort is the Supreme Court of the United States. This desire to change the fundamental law of our land has been gathering force for some years under the increasing trend of socialism and radicalism in all its forms.

Spasm of Amending

During the last decade we have witnessed a period of constitution-tinkering and a spasm of amending. The amendment fever has been aggravated by the growth of selfish minorities, blocs, groups, etc. The guarantees and safeguards of the Constitution have been found to stand in the way and they have decided to undo, if given a chance, the system of checks and balances created by the Constitution in the interest of the minority and the individual.

They wish to destroy what has existed for 135 years and has been upheld for generations by a long line of Supreme Court decisions that interpret the Constitution in the terms of national life and interest. It may be, many of the present followers of La Follette have lost sight of his demands for the fundamental changes as outlined in his creed, or they have failed to comprehend just what it means in the way of disaster to accomplish his aims and purposes, and fail now to understand how far under the pillars of the American temple the La Follette tunnels would be driven or how far the resulting ruin might spread. As President Coolidge said at Baltimore:

Time to Stop

"The time to stop those who would loosen and weaken the fabric of our government is before they begin. The time has come when they should supplement faith with action."

Unless we should eventually be ready to try the Russian experiment, such action should take the form of an utter repudiation of La Folletteism — root and branch.

Of La Follette's disloyalty to his country during the war, there can be no defense. His running mate, the renegade Democrat, may glory in it as he says in his stump speeches, but there is a great body of American voters who condemn it and see in the candidacy of La Follette for the highest office within the gift of the American people, nothing but a brazen piece of effrontery.

No Parallel Case

The history of the war of 1812 and the Mexican war may be searched in vain for a parallel case. Benedict Arnold who betrayed his country to the British during the Revolutionary war approaches it, but the aid rendered the British through the disloyal and treasonable conduct of Benedict Arnold was far less effective than that given the Germans by La Follette in condoning the slaughter of Americans on the high seas by German submarines, and opposing every measure in congress aimed in support of the army and navy after congress had declared war.

NOSEBLEED (EPISTAXIS), No. 2

In yesterday's paper on nosebleed I told you that there were two general causes: the local, such as falls, blows, pickings, etc.; and the constitutional causes, such as acute or chronic infections and some blood diseases. I told you that the bleeding usually ceases spontaneously, whether anything is done for it or not, through the natural clotting of the blood. I warned you that where there is a persistent, bloody frothy nasal discharge in children causing soreness of the upper lip, nasal diphtheria or some foreign body in the nose should be thought of.

The blood usually comes from the septum (the partition between the two nostrils) because the blood vessels are very rich and thin walled there and they are tightly stretched over the cartilage of the septum without much under padding tissue.

HOME TREATMENTS

Position: Sit upright. Don't lie down or bend your head over a basin. Then try some of these:

1. Press firmly with the hand on the bleeding side of the nose and over the face side of the nose.

2. If pressing does not stop the flow, insert a piece of guaze dipped in an antiseptic ointment, such as boracic acid ointment. Leave an end so that you can pull it out. (If you should happen to have some adrenlin one-to-one-thousand solution, wet the gauze in this. It contracts the blood vessels quickly.)

Better than gauze alone is gauze with the combination of a rubber finger cot. Dip the finger cot in an ointment (oil or cold cream will do if you haven't any antiseptic). Put it in the nose with pincers and then stuff it with cotton. (Leave the end of the cot out, of course). This forms an elastic pressure which can easily be removed.

3. Hold the hands in ice water, or hold a good sized piece of ice. This is an effective way of checking nosebleed, according to Kellogg. I'll quote from his Rational Hydrotherapy:

"Immersion of the hands in very cold water exercises a powerful influence—much greater than might be expected—upon the cerebral and pulmonary vessels. Vasileff showed (1885) that immersion of the hands in cold water for a sufficient length of time is capable of slowing the pulse and the respiration, lowering the temperature in the external auditory canal, lessening the pressure in the cerebral arteries, and narrowing the veins of the retina. The hot hand bath produces opposite phenomena. These observations explain the effect of the cold hand bath in controlling opistaxis. holding a block of ice in the hand is an excellent means of checking nosebleed, and in the author's hands has proved of service in pulmonary hemorrhage, checking the bleeding very quickly, even when other measures seemed to be unsuccessful."

If nosebleed occurs very frequently, there should be an examination to see that there is no ulceration or constitutional trouble, for when they are frequent they may be the cause of a considerable degree of secondary anemia. Some lubrication should be put in the nose after the nosebleed so that the little ulceration will heal without forming a hard scab, because this is apt to be blown or picked off, and another hemorrhage may start. It is a good plan for everyone to thoroughly clean the nose before retiring and insert some cold cream, or mildly antiseptic ointment.

DRUGS EXCITE THE KIDNEYS, DRINK WATER

Take Salts at First Sign of Bladder Irritation or Bachache

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble because we often eat too much rich food. Our blood is filled with acids which the kidneys strive to filter out; they weaken from overwork, become sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache, or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or if you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, begin drinking lots of good soft water and get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—Advertisement.

The Wrath To Come

CHAPTER VIII

"I see," Grant murmured, "By the bye was Baron Naga at Nice yesterday.

"He was."

"Do you know if he has received any dispatches from home since the last sitting?"

Lord Yeovil considered for a moment.

"He must have," he acknowledged, "because he was able to give us a very crude description of these flying boats of theirs, which the Italians are so curious about. He had no information at all two days ago when the matter came up."

"I'd give in the neighborhood of a million dollars to see that dispatch," Grant declared.

There was still a great deal of noise in the dining room and in the passage. Lord Yeovil walked to the door and locked it. Then he came back to his place. He spoke slowly and with the air of one choosing his words.

"Slattery," he said, "it has been in my mind for two years to propose a further invitation to your country to join the Pact, because, in my opinion, conditions during the last decade have entirely altered, and the position of your country outside the Pact, even though she may be considered the greatest power in the world, has become anomalous and dangerous. She has subscribed to the Limitation of Armaments, which she herself inaugurated, and has scrupulously carried out her obligations. With all her power and wealth she is unable to launch a single battleship or put under arms a single regiment of soldiers beyond the proportion allotted to her by the other subscribing powers. Yet, although she is in this position, she is not a member of the Pact. That is to say, that, legally speaking, any two or three nations who do belong to the Pact might attack America with superior forces and the other members of the Pact would be powerless."

"You have placed the matter in a nutshell, sir," Grant agreed. "It was the consideration of these things which brought me to Europe and keeps me employed here. America, when the great call came, rose magnificently to her opportunities. She stretched across to Europe, and though, indeed, others bore the brunt of the burden, she ended the war of nineteen-fourteen. Since then, without a doubt, she has had a political relapse. Her statesmen have lost a certain measure of insight and vision. She has sunk back into the parochial. Politics have become more than ever a game and a profession. Her statesmen are so busy fighting over their own national problems that they have never envisaged the danger upon the horizon. That has been my view. It is my view today."

"Go on," Lord Yeovil invited. "You have not been in Europe during these last twelve months for nothing."

"I am convinced," Grant declared, "that Germany and Japan have arrived at an understanding to strike at America. I am convinced for that reason that they will oppose your invitation to America tomorrow. If they do not and I have wasted my time, then God be thanked for it. I shall go back to polo and golf, hunt the hounds at Pau, and never take myself seriously again."

The older man helped himself to a cigarette and tapped it thoughtfully upon the table without lighting it.

"There is just one thing, Slattery," he said. "I have the greatest respect and liking for Naga. I cannot somehow believe that he would oppose me tomorrow unless he first gave me some intimation of his intention. Besides, he isn't in the least bellicose. I believe him to be an honorable man, and I can't imagine his being mixed up in any Teutonic plot."

Grant nodded.

"I, too," he agreed, "have a great respect for Naga. At the same time, with these Orientals, one has to remember it is their country first, their country second, their country all the time."

There were warning sounds from outside—the exodus of all the young people into the hall. Insistent voices called for Grant. He slipped across and unlocked the door.

"You had better go," his host advised. "We understand one another and there is nothing more to be done at present. Tomorrow, after the meeting of the Conference, we shall know where we stand."

"It's a private meeting, isn't it?"

"Yes. Thank God, we've managed to keep the Press out. Between you and me, Grant, if there were no newspapers, all the nations of the world would be sitting round in a family party. There would be no wars and very few quarrels. It is the enlightened Press of this generation which provides the fuel for tragedy."

The door was thrown open.

"'X to lead the ace of hearts and make the grand slam!'" Lady Susan cried. "Do come along, Grant. Whatever do grand slams in print matter? I have liqueurs on with Arthur that we're in the Club in twelve minutes. Do you think your Rolls-Royce is equal to it?"

"Nine-and-a-half is my time," Grant replied. "Nine, if you run up the stairs. Come on!"

The little party hurried off, their automobile lights flashing through the darkness of the curving drive, their voices disturbing the owls and waking many echoes in the violet stillness. Then the last car glided off down the hill and the Vilia was left in silence.

Towards it, from the other side of Nice came thundering through the darkness a great limousine, with its four lights flaring and siren whistle blowing. Outside, the driver sat with a face like a graven mask, with one thought in his brain. Inside, a man lay back amongst the cushions, upon whose forehead the sign of death seemed to already rest.

THE GATEWAY

Not until she opened her own eyes; until she knew the meaning of love herself, and understood the tempestuous force of his, did Barbara realize that she and Alan had been living together like two icebergs in the Garden of Eden.

The animal in man, longing fiercely for its mate, had been let loose in Alan, stronger for all these months of repression. "We are only human," he whispered, and Barbara—I want my wife!"

With only the birds for witness, the sound of the surf for choir, the radiance of the eastern sky for altar, and a tin key-ring for a wedding ring, these two plighted their troth. The few chief sentences from the marriage service were chosen by Barbara for their only rites. To love and to cherish till death us do part ..... And thereto I plight thee my troth ....." Their voices did not falter. The small tin ring encircled Barbara's finger; they stood silent for a while, with locked hands.

"Sinners in Heaven" is playing at the Gateway theatre Wednesday only, together with an exceptional bill of selected vaudeville.

DOBINSON PLAYERS

"Turn to the Right," which will be given its Glendale premiere by the Dobinson Players on Wednesday of this week at the Tuesday Afternoon club theatre, is from the pens of two noted dramatists, Winchell Smith and John E. Hazzard, and is regarded as one of the most successful of modern American dramas. It has given pleasure to millions and Mrs. Florence Dobinson feels certain it will please Glendale show-goers.

Here is a play drawn true to life, its characters real folks, just as everyone knows people to be, and with one of the sweetest regeneration-through-love themes that has ever come to the stage pervading its atmosphere with a wholesome fragrance. Georgia Woodthorpe, grand old lady of the stage, has been especially engaged for the immortal role of Mrs. Bascom, the loving mother. Joe, the boy who is trying to make good, will be played by William H. Stephens, Mrs. Dobinson states.

MURPHY COMEDIANS

"The Lonesome Trail," now showing 8:15 o'clock nightly at the tent theatre of Murphy Comedians No. 2, San Fernando boulevard and Cedar street, Burbank, is a laugh-full comedy in three acts, with drama enough to keep the audience on the edge of their chairs.

Vin Moore, in the leading masculine role, causes gales of laughter, and Barbara Gurney, who carries off the ingenue honors, wins all hearts by her charming manner and easy mastery of the part. Everyone else in the cast is fully up to Murphy standards.

The tent is well heated, assures J. W. Davis, manager, and there is no need to worry on that score. In fact, everything possible has been done for the convenience of patrons, he states, and there is plenty of free parking nearby.

Uncle Wiggily

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY BEATS HIS DRUM

"Do you think you will be afraid to stay alone in the bungalow, while I go down to the seven and eight cent store and get me some new diamont earrings?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy one day.

"Afraid to stay here alone?" inquired Uncle Wiggily, who had a little cold and couldn't go out looking for an adventure. "Why should I be afraid, Nurse Jane? Haven't I a fine big drum to beat, and scare away the bad chaps?"

"Yes, I know you have a drum," spoke Nurse Jane. "But you might fall inside it, as you did while you were making it, and Uncle Butter had to help you out."

I told you that story last night, if you will kindly remember.

"Oh, I'm not going to fall in my drum this time," laughed the rabbit. "And if any of the bad chaps come, while you are gone, and want to nibble my ears I'll beat a rub-a-dub-dub, make them think soldiers are coming to shoot them, and away they'll run—I mean the bad chaps will run."

"I hope so," spoke the muskrat lady. She put on her new chicken feather dress and hurried off to the seven and eight cent store. Uncle Wiggily took his barrel drum from beneath the piano, where it had been sleeping all night. The rabbit gentleman took Nurse Jane's potato masher from the kitchen.

"Now I'm all ready to beat my drum if bad animals come," he said as he sat himself down in an easy chair.

All of a sudden there was a noise at the back door.

"Oh, maybe that's the Bob Cat!" thought Uncle Wiggily, and he beat his drum: "Boom! Boom! Boomity-oom-oom!"

"Hurray! Hurray!" cried a jolly voice. "Are you having a soldier parade, Uncle Wiggily?" and in ran Jackie Bow Wow, the puppy dog boy."

"Oh, ho!" chuckled the rabbit. "I thought you were a bad chap, so I beat my drum."

"Please let me drum a little," barked Jackie, so Uncle Wiggily did. Pretty soon there was a noise at the front door.

"Beat the drum hard, Jackie! This may be a bad chap!" shouted Uncle Wiggily. But it was only Tommie Kat, who came to borrow some milk for his mother to make a strawberry long cake.

"Let e beat the drum," mewed Tommie. So he and Jackie took turns beating the drum with Uncle Wiggily looking on and twinkling his pink nose jolly like.

All of a sudden, in through the window crawled the Skillery Scallery Alligator with the double joined tail.

"Gurra! Gurra!" cried the 'Gator. "I came to get Uncle Wiggily! I want him to come to my surprise party!"

"Don't go to his surprise party, Uncle Wiggily!" barked Jackie. "He'll nibble your ears! Don't you go!"

"I'm not going!" laughed the bunny. Then, taking the potato masher he banged the barrel drum as hard as he could. "Boom! Boom! Bang! Crash! Bank!" rumbled the drum.

"Oh, dear me! It's thundering! It's going to rain. I haven't any umbrella and I'm afraid of thunder and lightning and I don't want to get rained on!" howled the 'Gator, who couldn't see very well, and who didn't notice Uncle Wiggily beating the drum.

"Boom! Boom!' rolled out the sound.

"Oh, I must get home before the storm!" cried the 'Gator, and out of the window he flopped and away he waddled.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Jackie and Tommie.

"Ho! Ho!" shouted Uncle Wiggily. "My drum fooled the bad chap."

So everything happened for the best, you see, and if the broom doesn't laugh at the dusting brush, for having such a little short tail for a handle, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's grape juice.

By ROSS M. RUSSELL, Jr.
Of The Evening News Staff.

Unless someone upsets the dope bucket, the Glendale Dynamiters will win another Central League heavyweight football pennant! According to the dope experts, the locals will win their three remaining games by a margin of three touchdowns.

Of course, a blocked kick or an intercepted pass will turn the tide one way or another and set the dope fluey, but right now it looks like the locals will win the rest of their games unless something very much out of the ordinary happens.

The Moors, who play on Broadway field Friday, scored only two touchdowns against the Monrovia boys and were scored on once. Working around the other way, Glendale beat Citrus, 6-2, Citrus beat South Pasadena 17-0, and South Pasadena, Covina and Alhambra are all on about even terms.

Rule on Standing

This gives Glendale a safe 20-0 margin on all three teams. No team in the league has a clean slate. Alhambra, Glendale's nearest rival, has tied one game, and, as the Central league ruling counts a tie one half a game won and half a game lost, the Moors have only .750 per cent. To win the pennant the Moors would have to win the rest of their games, while the Dynamiters dropped one.

While the Red and Black warriors are playing the Moors Friday Citrus meets Covina at Citrus and Monrovia journeys to South Pasadena. South Pasadena and Monrovia are nearly hopelessly out of the race, and Alhambra, Citrus and Covina have only an outside chance.

Lightweights Active

The lightweights under Coaches Hicks and Butterfield appear to be on the sure road to a pennant. The lightweights have not been scored on as yet and lead the league. They will probably have little difficulty in bringing home the bacon this year.

Coach Wolfe's 110-pounders look like another banner team. With good chances for three football pennants coming to G. U. H. S. this year a stronger call comes for admission to the City league. Glendale is too big a high school to be in a small league. Last year the city teams were nothing compared to Glendale's mighty machine, and the locals could have easily cleaned up on the city elevens.

Back Lame and Achy?

The Advice of This Glendale Resident Should Help You to Get Well

Do you suffer nagging backache?
Feel dizzy, nervous and depressed?
Are the kidney secretions irregular; breaking your rest?
Likely your kidneys are at fault.
Weak kidneys give warning. You have backache; rheumatic twinges.
You feel weak, tired, all worn-out.
Heed the warning. Don't delay!
Use Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys.

Your neighbors recommend Doan's. Here is a Glendale case.

Fred Gasch, carpenter, 3749 Valley Brink Road, says: "My back was lame and sore and there seemed to be a weakness through my kidneys, for it was hard for me to get up or down. Sharp stitches took me through the small of my back and I had to straighten slowly, after stooping, those pains became intense. My kidneys were disordered, so I finally started using Doan's Pills from the Owl Drug Co. One box rid me of this trouble."

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Out in San Francisco where Jimmy O'Connell, the center of the Giant bribery scandal, has gone to nurse his broken heart, there are a lot of people who believe O'Connell's story that he believed he was acting under "club orders" when he approached Sand of the Philadelphia Nationals with an offer of $500 to throw a game to the hard pressed Giants.

This, despite the fact that all the players involved by O'Connell, with the exception of Cozy Dolan, have successfully gotten from under, and that Dolan has convinced some of the baseball writers here in the east that he had nothing to do with the affair and was given a raw deal by Commissioner Landis when he was ousted from the game along with O'Connell.

O'Connell's friends can readily understand why he might have acted under what he thought were "club orders" for he had just been given a chance to get back into the Giant line up after having been benched twice for failure to obey playing instructions. O'Connell his coast friends say, is more an instinctive ball player than anything else. They regard him as a "square shooter" and refuse to believe he originated the plan to bribe Sand.

Here's the story O'Connell is telling on the coast, where from all reports, he is near a nervous and physical breakdown over the affair.

"I was sitting in the locker room with Dolan and he turned to me and said: 'You're pretty strong with Heinie Sand. Go and offer him $500 if the Phillies won't bear down on us too hard.'

"I felt that Dolan in a way represented the club. I took his instructions as an order and promised to do what I could. As I left Frisch wanted to know what I had been talking about with Dolan and I told him. He said: 'Go ahead and give Sand anything he wants.'

"After that Young came up and asked, and I told him what Dolan had said. He said that was all right and for me to go ahead.

"Then I talked with Sand. He turned me down flat. As I came back Kelly asked me: 'What did Sand say?'

"Then I repeated to Dolan who did not seem to care very much and remarked: 'Well, we'll beat 'em anyway.'

"President Heydler was in the room when Dolan and I were questioned by Judge Landis and Dolan's reply to all questions was that he 'didn't remember.' When Frisch, Young and Kelly were questioned, they denied everything. I guess I'll have to be the goat."

CHICAGO HELPED BY PLAYER DEAL

Three Experienced Men Go To Cubs In Trade; See Hopes of Pennant

By ARTHUR STRUWE
For International News Service.

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Chicago fans are casting their eyes on the 1925 pennant in the National league, following the players' deal which brought Grimm, Maranville and Cooper from the Pirates in exchange for Aldridge, Grantham and Niehaus.

On paper it is apparent that the Cubs got all the better of the trade. In Charlie Grimm they secured a topnotch first sacker and gave up for him Albert Niehaus, a rookie who has yet to rank in the A-1 class. In Wilbur Cooper they obtained one of the best southpaws ni the league, who, although not a youngster, won twenty games for the Pirates last season. In return for Cooper they gave up Vic Aldridge, a none too dependable twirler. In Rabbit Maranville they secured the services of a brainy ball player, a topnotcher among second basemen, and gave for him George Grantham, none too stable a fielder, who was spectacular at times, but committed many misdeeds on the field.

The acquisition of the three Pirates will give the Cubs the one attribute lacking in their makeup last season—experienced players.

Order Investigation Into Death of Boxer

YONKERS, N. Y., Oct. 28.—An autopsy to determine the cause of the death of Ralph Thomas, middleweight boxer of the Bronx, who collapsed and died last night in the ring during a bout with Albert Yeochea, South American, was to be held today. Police ordered everyone connected with staging the bout taken into custody until an investigation could be completed.

GRIDIRON MENTOR DIES IN HARNESS

Percy D. Haughton, on Brink Of Biggest Achievement, Lost to Game

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Percy D. Haughton, 49, wonder worker of the gridiron, dead from an attack of heart disease as he stood on the brink of his greatest achievement, was mourned today by his followers at Columbia university, and by his friends on every rival campus throughout the east.

He died in harness, from an illness which struck as he was putting on his football togs just before going to the practice field where he had moulded the first representative football team Columbia has had in ten years. His death came less than 48 hours after the blue and white's decisive victory over Williams, a victory which convinced football followers that he could transplant to Columbia the Haughton system made famous at Harvard in his nine years as head coach there.

It was his second season as head coach at Columbia, and the improved showing of the blue and white eleven held promise that the Haughton "will to win" and systematic discipline were producing something Columbia had not known in years—a winning team.

Navy's Chances Dim As Stars Withdraw

ANNAPOLIS, Oct. 28.—Navy's chances for the great annual football game with West Point to be played at Baltimore stadium November 29, suffered a crushing setback today when four of the stars of the midshipmen eleven were disqualified by naval academy authorities for being back in their studies. The players, Allan Shapley, quarterback, and outstanding mainstay of the team this season; Royce Flippin, halfback, and rated second to Shapley; Gus Lentz, 220-pound guard and bulwark of the line, and Bill Osburn, varsity center, must redeem themselves at examination November 22 to be eligible.

The blow, following defeats by Princeton and Marquette, has established Army as the odds-on favorite for the annual clash. Despite the fact the midshipmen have the heaviest eleven in the history of the academy, their record this year has not been inspiring.

With four of Navy's best men definitely out of the lineup until November 22, and possibly for the remainder of the season, gridiron experts believe only a great upset will place her in the running with her rival.

Orgeon Prunes Exceed Growers' Expectations

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 28.—The Oregon prune crop is better than was expected. M. J. Newhouse, sales manager of the Northwest Prune Growers' association, placed the yield at 36,000,000 pounds while a recent survey by the Portland Journal showed a prospective crop of not less than 37,000,000 pounds.

Market Observers See Light Hogs Advancing

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 28.—Market observers predict advancing prices for light hogs which have dropped $2 a hundred recently. The slump followed a sudden demand for heavy butcher hogs to supply Europe with lard. The light supply of pigs on farms, however, is expected to send prices up again when the lard demand eases off.

RINGSIDE GOSSIP by FAIR PLAY

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—When the classmates of the sons of the governor of Georgia and the solicitor general of the state—as well as scions of other prominent Georgia families—at the University school for boys in Atlanta step into the ring on Thanksgiving Day in a prize fight, what will their illustrious fathers say? Nothing, perhaps.

It's a cinch what the boys will say. They will give lusty cheers for Young Stribling, their schoolmate in this select academy. And the principal will probably lend his best wishes to his pupil, who, according to the present dope, will meet Hughie Walker in Atlanta on Turkey day.

The principal, by the way, asserts that Young Stribling is the best influence in the school. He is modest, says he, and never poses or tries to bully anyone.

Stribling's mail, say his schoolmates, is filled daily with mash letters from Georgia peaches, but the young fighter is very bashful and never answers any of them. His great ambition, it seems, is to prepare himself to enter some northern college and he is studying hard to that end.

Jack Heddick of Canada who made a good impression in New York some time ago, a member of the Stribe's stable, will also participate in this Thanksgiving day event.

Pancho Villa has hit upon a happy method of spending the eight months' suspension which the New York boxing commission visited upon him for his maneuverings with regard to the proposed Genaro battle. Pancho has taken to the ocean blue and will spend the idle months amid the rice fields of his native Philippines.

Leaguers Pay $1,750 For Beating Hotel Boy

WENATCHEE, Wash., Oct. 28.—Barney Neiss, Johnny Mitchell Milton Stock and Elmer Brown, members of the Brooklyn National league club, paid a total of $1,750 today in settling charges of assault and disorderly conduct growing out of an alleged beating they administered to William Weaver, 16-year-old boy of the Elman hotel here October 19.

The players changed their pleas to guilty and were each fined $100 on each charge. In addition they paid the hotel $200 and the bell boy $750. The case against them in superior court was dismissed by agreement after the cash settlement was made.

The players who were on an exhibition tour with the team, were alleged to have beaten young Weaver when he refused to open one of the rooms in the hotel.

GREENLAWS MOVE INTO NEW HOME

Seven-Room Spanish Stucco House Located on North Geneva Street

Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Greenlaw have moved into their artistic new seven-room Spanish stucco home at 621 North Geneva street, designed by Lyle Nelson Barcune, 5605 Buchanan street, Los Angeles, and built by W. W. Wolcott, a close friend of the family, living next door, at 623 North Geneva street.

The house is ideally located, fronting northeast, with a view of the Verdugo hills, and contains three bedrooms, dining room, breakfast room and porches at the front, side and rear, commanding views in three directions.

Mr. Wolcott, the builder, is responsible for many of the finer homes in Glendale, Hollywood and Pasadena, according to Mr. Greenlaw, and his training and experience are such as to assure a faithful carrying o t of the architect's plans, where the client has his own plans. He is also qualified to furnish his own detinctive designs, which he has done on numerous occasions for Glendale home builders.

Kansas U. Graduate

Mr. Wolcott is a graduate of the University of Kansas, engineering department, and came to Glendale in 1917. Mr. and Mrs. Greenlaw came here from St. Louis four years ago, and Mr. Greenlaw has been practically all this time with the Glendale Realty Co. at 131½ South Brand boulevard, whose president, Cameron D. Thom, belongs to a family of pioneer Glendalians and is prominent in the business and social life of the city.

Ever since Mr. and Mrs. Greenlaw have been in Glendale they have admired the northeast section of the city and bought their lot there some time ago. They deferred building until they could put up the kind of a home they wanted, Mr. Greenlaw stated.

Settlers Win Point In Idaho Irrigation Case

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Settlers on the irrigation project, supplied with water by the Twin Falls Salmon River Land and Water Co., Idaho, won in the supreme court of the United States their suit to compel the company to insure an adequate supply of water or reduce the acreage and contracts of water to the available supply.

FOLEY PILLS REACHED THE SORE SPOT

Mrs. Ellen Reighard, South Fork, Pa., writes: "I had been suffering with my kidneys and nothing seemed to touch the aching spot until I procured FOLEY PILLS, with wonderful results." FOLEY PILLS, a diuretic stimulant for the kidneys, gently and thoroughly flush and cleanse the kidneys and help to eliminate poisonous waste matter. Try a bottle today and you will be well pleased with the relief obtained. The use of FOLEY PILLS increases kidney activity.

MORE REASONING ON CIVIC CENTER

Glendale Attorney Tells Why Bonded Indebtedness Is To Be Considered

Editor the Evening News:—Knowing that you have in the past always displayed a spirit of fair-mindedness in matters of a civic nature, those matters that affect the people of Glendale as a whole, I take the liberty of writing you concerning a matter in which it seems to me all of the people of Glendale are interested, namely, the question of increased bonded indebtedness.

I believe that all thoughtful business men and women of Glendale are agreed that one of the causes of the phenomenal growth of Glendale has been the willingness of its residents to lend the credit of the city and also their own credit to forwarding the various public needs of the city; this has been many times manifested in voting bonds for schools, lighting plants, water works, police and fire protection, and sewers. It is further shown by the property owner in assuming and carrying heavy indebedness for payment of street improvements. These things have doubtless all been necessary and are resulting in, or are likely to result in actual increased valuation of property. These improvements tend to make our city attractive to investors and homeseekers, as they furnish the dwellers in our city with the comforts, conveniences and luxuries of life, and to that extent are to be desired, provided always, however, that we can afford them, and the repayment of their cost does not become a burden to us.

Bond Proposition

Let us therefore assume that the bonds that the people have heretofore voted are and have been necessary; that the proceeds have been wisely expended, or will be so expended; that the results obtained are well worth the additional burden that must be borne by the taxpayer. Having assumed all this, does it not occur to the thoughtful man or woman, that a time should arrive when the indebtedness should not be further increased? That the taxpayer might cherish the hope of the lightening of the burden of taxation instead of an ever-increasing one? Surely the time should arrive when we can cease increasing the mortgage on our homes and business by the creation of additional bond issues.

Let us analyze for a moment the character of our outstanding obligations as represented by our bond issues with a view to determining when we can expect relief from them:

The only bonds that we can hope to pay other than by direct taxation, are those which we have already voted for municipally owned public utilities, that is, electric light and power bonds and bonds of the municipal water plant. All other must be paid by taxation.

Light and Water

With reference to the former, that is, light and water bonds, we will assume that the earnings of these utilities will retire these bonds within the time fixed in the ordinance, without taxation. Of course it may become necessary in order to do this, to raise rates for light and water and to make a service and meter charge. This the City Council has the power and authority to do. Those of you who have been residents of the City of Glendale for the past ten years can hark back and refresh your memories to determine for yourselves whether this has been done.

Bonds for schools, sewers, parks, police protection, fire protection and library must be made by direct levy on the taxpayer's property. The only way the burden can be lightened is by increased property values in the city as a whole, as the city increases in size and population, so that is one hope the taxpayer has, and so far as one can determine, it is the only one. Now that one hope is likely to be dispelled by voting additional bonds, and it is to that contingency that I desire to call your attention.

Bonding Capacity

Bonding capacity as we all know is determined by assessed values. With low values bonding capacity remains low and of course increases as valuations rise, but taxes are not determined upon assessed valuation alone; they depend upon another element added to assessed valuation, and that is the element of rate and as rates have been fixed in our statutes and charters that cannot be exceeded, of course the rate must be within that limit. A low valuation with a high rate may produce less tax money than a high assessed valuation and a low rate, and as the valuation of property is practically unlimited except by the assessing power, we find that we can be assessed too high and not have a high rate. By assessing high we also have greater bonding capacity. Has this been done in Glendale? Examine your tax bills for 1924 and 1925 as compared with previous years and determine the question for yourself.

Voters of Glendale will be called upon the 4th day of November to determine whether or not our bonded indebtedness shall be again increased by over a half million dollars to be used in the purchase of a Civic Center site. I presume that what is meant by a Civic Center site would be a location for such buildings as are used for municipal purposes, such as for instance, a City Hall and City Library and perhaps other buildings that might later be erected for municipal purposes.

Public Library

We now have a City Hall and a free public library. This library has Mr. Carnegie's name on it I think. However, it is maintained by the city, and if my memory serves me correctly the city is obliged to maintain it at a certain cost in order to comply with the terms of the gift. I believe the library is well managed and much good is the result of its maintenance. It may not be large enough for all future needs, but there is I think, sufficient ground space around it to furnish room for additions to it. If I am correct in this, then, it is not likely that we need any land for a library on the site selected or to be selected for a Civic Center should the bond issue carry.

Our City Hall site was selected by the voters of the City of Glendale by what was termed a "straw vote" which was conducted at the same time the City Hall bonds were voted, and the present City Hall was erected on the site so chosen at that time. It (the City Hall) was enlarged later and no doubt it is not now commodious enough to accommodate all of the city's business, but it occurs to me that there is sufficient room on the site to further enlarge it so as to amply accommodate all our city's business without the purchase of additional land and with the expenditure of a relatively small sum of money. I feel sure that our Glendale architects can furnish plans and specifications for an addition to it that will combine both an artistic and roomy structure upon the space surrounding our present City Hall.

Contemplated Site

I understand that the site to be selected for a Civic Center if the proposed bond issue is voted, is the property upon which is now situated our old Union High school; that is the property extending from Harvard boulevard to Colorado boulevard and bounded on the east by Louise street. I am further informed that the bonds or the money to be received from them, should they be voted, will go into the High School fund and that such fund so replenished will be used to acquire other property for additional High School grounds. This plan has something to recommend it if it be carried out, and were it not that we have to vote additional bonds to secure the property, it would, in my opinion, be a good plan, that is, if the High School district would sell this property now proposed to be purchased by the bond issue, to private parties, and use the funds received from such sale to secure another and more suitable site for High School purposes, and erect buildings thereon, without the voting of additional bonds. The trouble with the plan is that we have to vote the bonds to buy the High School site; it matters little whether we vote bonds for schools or for a Civic Center site, they become a lien on our property and increase our burden of indebtedness just the same.

In passing I may say that I believe that the bonds voted to purchase the old Union High school site and the erection of the buildings have not as yet been fully paid.

Suitability Discussed

The buildings on the land proposed to be purchased are not suitable for a City Hall or Civic Center purposes. Of course they might be used for those purposes for awhile and could be remodeled or made over to serve the city's purpose, but it is conceivable that it will not be long before the people of Glendale will be called upon to again vote bonds for a new City Hall and perhaps for other structures on the Civic Center and the old buildings will be torn down and disposed of at prices that will net the city but a small amount as compared with their cost.

Organized society finds it necessary to pass laws under which to live and municipalities are formed for the purpose of getting the benefits of organized effort. To do this it has become necessary to tax those receiving the benefits. Now let us consider what benefits we get in cities for this tax.

We pay for our light, heat and water; we pay for our streets, telephone service, and extension of water mains. All these we pay for in addition to our taxes. So we receive from our tax money the following results: retirement of our bond issues, police and fire protection, free public library, free parks, free garbage collection, street cleaning and minor street improvements. If there be anything in addition to this I do not at this time recall it. All of the rest of the tax money is expended in the payment of expenses to officials and employees of the city other than police and firemen. The assessment and collection of our taxes is now done by the County of Los Angeles at a small expense. So, reduced to its last analysis, our city government should be quite simple and inexpensive.

Therefore arises the question: Do we need to expend so large a sum for a site to house our municipal business?

Point of View

There are many people who believe that the least governed people are the best governed people; that low taxes and efficient service of the public utilities of light, heat and water, at low rates and efficient police and fire protection, make up the necessary elements for the growth of a city, and induce the homeseeker to single out such cities as the one of their choice. They believe it is not necessary in order to increase property values, that large and expensive municipal buildings be erected by a city, but rather they believe that the streets of a city be devoted to business and homes, and that evidences of municipal expenditures for unnecessary buildings or for mere show, be at a minimum rather than at a maximum; that upon a program of economy, thrift and common sense our city will thrive and develop and in time taxes will be reduced and property become an asset rather than a liability.

What is herein set forth is not intended as an adverse criticism of our officials nor is it directed to any individual or group of individuals. We all have a right to our opinions and in discussing these matters do so in a spirit of tolerance rather than of rivalry. Acrimony does not add anything to the logic of the question.

What I have herein set forth occurs to me to be reasons why we should pause and consider well before we again vote to increase the burden of taxation.

Respectfully yours,

FROM EAGLE ROCK

EAGLE ROCK, Oct. 28.—College View avenue is to be opened from Colorado boulevard south to Langdale avenue, a plan for this improvement having been approved by the L. Angeles City Council. The street, which will be thirty feet wide, is to be enhanced by a twenty-five-foot parkway, which, when planted in shrubs and flowers, will present one of the most attractive street plans yet to be introduced here, it is held. On the west side of College View avenue, owing to the grade, an unusual plan will be followed—that of placing the sidewalk next to the curb, and having the parking on the west side of the sidewalk. The parkings on each side the street space and sidewalks will comprise the seventy-five-foot strip which has been dedicated for street purposes.

The grade now established on portions of College View avenue will be lowered, in order to bring the entire length of the street under Los Angeles requirements, it is said, the city limit being 18 per cent.

The Los Angeles Traffic commission warns automobilists as follows: Do not drive in excess of fifteen miles per hour past Eagle Rock schools, when children are entering or leaving; do not drive into school crosswalks marked with yellow paint, when there are pedestrians in the crosswalk on the right half of the roadway; co-operate with the police department in making the streets safe for both motorists and pedestrians.

The Los Angeles district meeting of the W. H. M. U. and W. B. M. P. of Southern California will be held at the Garvanza Congregational church, corner Avenue 64 and Ruby street, Thursday, October 30.
